

Biography Wax Museum

Our fourth grade students will be presenting the information learned from biography books in the form of a “Wax Museum”. Students will choose a famous person that he/she would like to read about. After gathering information about the famous person from the book, the student will “become” that person in the form of a “statue” dressed in a costume as their famous person. Visitors to the “museum” will press student-made “buttons” and the “statues” will come alive and tell about themselves!

NOTE: Because of the late date and the fact that we already read a biography book earlier in the year, have your student use the information from this book (previously read, earlier this year) OR have your student research their biographical character on the internet (at home) and use the information gained from their web searches to prepare their report/tri-fold.

February 15th

The biography book should be completely read (or information gathered through website searches) and the Biography Bookmark completed, and turned in.

February 15th Each student should have his/her speech written and should begin practicing in front of an “audience” at home. Please refer to the speech guideline for a helpful outline. Speeches should not exceed one or two minutes.

February 25th

Tri-fold due. Students should include pictures, reports, and other information as a backdrop for the wax museum. We are asking for donations of a tri-fold from each family. If you cannot provide a tri-fold for your student please notify me so one can be purchased for them. Props should be completed. Props can be items to use during the speech to represent tools or equipment that the famous person might have used. Please send these items in a bag with you’re student’s name on it. Students should display the biography book they read or list the website(s) referenced to gather their information and factual data.

February 26th

Costumes should be completed and ready for “museum wear”. Please try to keep these simple but believable. It is not necessary to spend money on an elaborate outfit. Look in closets at home and use your imagination to think of a way to adapt an outfit into a costume your famous person might have worn. This will also be a dress rehearsal for the other classes at Quest. Students from other classes will be viewing the wax museum in a special sneak peak performance from 8:45-10:30 that morning. Please make sure you bring all props, books, and complete costume on this day, as the teachers will use this performance for grading.

February 28th

“A Night at the Museum”...Parents and families are invited for a special performance on this night from 5:30-7 pm. Students will need to be dressed and ready by 5:15!!

Biography bookmark

Use this paper as a bookmark for your Biography project. As you read, see if you can locate the following information about your famous person. The things you write down will help you later when you begin writing your speech for the Wax Museum Presentation.

Speech Guideline:

Use this form to help you plan your speech for your “wax statue” to give when you “magic button” is pressed! You do not have to use this exact speech form, but it will help you in getting started and in making your plans for your speech. Remember to keep your speech about 2 minutes long. If you only use the following form with nothing added from your own creativity, the speech will probably be less than 2 minutes long. Feel free to switch the order of this guideline, and even delete or add some additional material to make your speech unique from your classmates.

Tri-Fold Guideline:

Tri-Board:

*Tri-boards (approximately 4' x 2'8") may be purchased at office supply stores (Staple's, Office Max, etc.) - let the teacher know if there is a problem in getting one

Things to include:

*Title- person's name and date of birth and death.

*Report - Tri-Fold should include a typed PDF of the Biography bookmark. This will be completed and printed during class. The typed PDF should be attached to the tri-fold so that audience can clearly see the information.

*Pictures-portraits of character and/or things and places that pertain to the character

*Map- includes one map that is relevant to his person. It can be a map of the state where they were born, or an area of the world they have influenced.

*Five Questions

MUST HAVE FIVE QUESTIONS YOU CAN ANSWER ABOUT YOUR CHARACTER PREPARED AND POSTED ON TRI-BOARD IN LARGE FONT!

*Neatness/Creativity-should be neat, colorful, and show that you put effort into it

*Anything else you can think to display that will help the audience visualize your character and their life.
